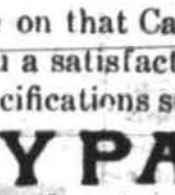
WE'LL CELEBRATE

IF YOU contemplate spending Independence Day out of town, don't do it.

Carmel is going to have a big celebration of the Fourth of July, and you cannot afford to miss it.

The members of the Carmel Fire Department will cooperate in the affair.

A tentative program has already been arranged. It includes a parade, patriotic exercises, a carnival, eats, various sporting events, and a dance in the evening at Manzanita Hall.



Fire Department committees and their chairmen are: Finance and Revenue, A. E. Donnelly; Carnival and Concessions, R. G. Leidig; Parade and Decorations, Herbert Hand; Patriotic Exercises, W. L. Overstreet; Dance, Lawrence Leidig.

All these things require money. Those desiring to should make out checks to C. J. Arne, T. B. Reardon, or W. L. Overstreet.

Judge Bardin Renders Important Decision

The suit of Russell Scott of Salinas against John Q. Wrenn, a wealthy physician of Placerville, has been decided in favor of Scott by Judge J. A. Bardin.

The action was to establish the ownership of two pieces of real estate in Carmel. Some years ago the property was sold for delinquent taxes, and after the five-year limit allowed for redemption was purchased by Scott.

In his decision Judge Bardin holds that the buyer's title is complete. The Supreme Court has never ruled in such a case, so an appeal may be taken.

Well Rendered Program

One of the pleasantest events of the week was the vocal and piano recital given at the Peter Taylors on Thursday evening by Mrs. Frances C. Pudan and Miss Grace Wickham, pupils of Mrs. Mabel Gray Young.

The long and difficult program was interpreted with fine artistic finish. Mrs. Pudan's splendid mezzo voice was never heard to better advantage, and Miss Wickham excelled in poetry of touch and interpretation.

The program was brought to a close with a group of charming duets for two pianos sung by Mrs. Pudan and Mrs. Young.

A collection for the Serbian Relief Fund was generously responded to by a large and appreciative audience.

The Wonders of America

By T. T. MAXEY

THE BIG TREES IN CALIFORNIA.

THE biggest trees in the world are found in California. They are of two varieties, both a species of evergreen, sequoia (in honor of a Cherokee Indian) redwood and sequoia gigentia. The former grows quite extensively in certain sections on the western slope of the coast range; the latter only on the western slope of the Sierra Nevada mountains, at an elevation of about one mile above sea level. The former is said to reproduce itself from the stump, the other from little seeds which grow in pods.

The best-known and most-frequently-visited grove of the redwood sequoias is near the little city of Santa Cruz, on the coast some seventy miles south of San Francisco. Some of these trees are more than 250 feet high and 20 feet in diameter at the base. The gigentia, however, is the real thing in big trees. Some are almost 400 feet high and 90 feet around at the base. The bark is of a reddish brown color, very thick and fluted up and down. The branches are very large, beginning 60 feet or more from the ground.

The secret of their age is still one of the unexplained problems of the universe. Estimates range all the way from 4,000 to 10,000 years. But suppose it is only the former. Think of living a million and a half of days! Think of the changes which have been wrought in that time! That they are the tallest, stateliest and oldest living things in all this big world of ours is an undisputed fact.
